THE TEXAS INVESTIGATION.

More Testimony Before the Senate Sub-Committee. [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

Washington, February 25 .- The Texas investigation was resumed to-day, and John H. Roberts (white), a armer, aged forty-nine, and a native of Washington county, was the first witness. Votes at Graball: the People's ticket in 1884 was got up by the best citizens of both parties to protect themselves against the "venality, corruption, and stealing" of the Republican county dministrations. Witness said the gen ral belief among white and colored peoole was that the negroes who were arrested assassinated Folton.

On cross-examination the witness said that the general reputation of Hackworth, Moore, and Schutze, the memorialists, was as bad as could be that they got the negroes together at night in "owl meetings," as they were called, and delivered inflammatory speeches to them. He said these meet ngs were held late at night, after good people had gone to bed; that the emocratic citizens in the county. armers, went to bed usually about 9 clock at night, like good, honest men. He testified that he had been elected five times in succession; always got a large number of white and colored Republian votes. Hackworth, one of the me norialists, was a justice of the peace and the county record shows that he let contracts for building bridges to his own father at excriptant prices; under adjudication, the prices vere cut down to about 30 per cent of the contract prices. Witness described the contracts let by Justice Hackworth to his father and brother-in-law as "outrageous." Hackworth was inlicted six times for malefeasance and extortion in office.

bill reported to the House to-day makes total appropriation of $3,573,504, while the estimates aggregated is $7,558, 914. An appropriation of $630,000 is made for the Department of Justice to cet the expenses of the United States courts, mainly jurors, witnesses, clerks, and marshals' fees.

A question has been sprung upon the public here to-day whether the Presi-dent will have the right to appoint the inter-State commerce commission after Congress adjourns if he should fail to send the nominations to the Senate beore adjournment. The question is upon the technicality whether there will then be "vacancies," inasmuch as these offices have never been filled, but are entirely new creations. There is a radical difference of opinion among lawyers with regard to the point in question, and the opinion is expressed by some of the most experienced senators that the President will avoid all complications which might grow out of matter by making his nominations in time for action by the Senate before the 4th of March. It can't be learned that this opinion is based upon any utterance of the President, Judge Brown Decides in Favor of the Old Dominion Company-His Reasons.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Naw York, February 25.—Judge Erown to-day in the United States Cir-cuit Court handed down his decision in the suit of the Old Dominion Steamship Company against John J. McKenna, James E. Quinn, and others of the Ocean Association, on a motion to have the defendants discharged from arrest The suit was brought to recover $20,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by the company through the unlawful action of the defendants in the recent strike of Tongshoremen and in their at tempt to place a boycott on the company in its business as a common carrier. The defendants are out on bail. The defence argued that the material facts in the complaint were furnished on information and belief only, without particulars, and that the defendants were acting within their legal rights. Judge Brown reviews the charge and decides that the materia points are stated positively and that the arces of information are sufficiently licated; that the facts stated in the complaint and affidavits constitute a legal cause for action against all the de dants, and the motion to discharge from arrest is denied.

Judge Brown gives the following reasons:

First. The plaintiffs are engaged in the legal calling of common carriers, which requires the employment of numerous workmen, who are asserted to ave been employed at just and satisfactory wages.

Second. The defendants were not in the employ of the company, and had no legal justification to interfere in the mere question of wages. It is charged that they excited the employes of the company both in this city and in south ern ports to quit work in a body; to inflict damage upon the busines of the plaintiff until the demands of the defendants should be granted, which the plaintiff was under no do. The procurement of employés to leave work was to inflict injury upon the business of the com pany, and was not justifiable, thereby in law was a malicious and illegal inter ference with the business of the com pany which was actionable.

Third. After the strike the defend and ignorant pigeons could never appreciate. Among the pigeons now in the possession of the Government are ants placed a boycott on the business of the company, interfering with its business as common carriers, and tried to deter others from doing business with the plaintiff to the latter's damage These acts were not merely illegal, but also misdemeanors in common law, as well as by section 168 of the penal code

In the fourth place, Judge Brown goes n to say, associations have no more ght to inflict injuries upon others than individuals have. All combinations and ssociations designed to coerce work men to become members of, or to in terfere with, obstruct, vex, or annoy them in working or in obtaining work because they are not members, or in order to induce them to become mem bers, or designed to prevent employer from making just discrimination is wages paid to the skilful and unskilful to the diligent and lazy, to the efficien and inefficient, and all associations de signed to interfere with the perfect freedom of employers in th per management and control of their lawful business, or to dictate in any particular terms upon their business shall be their business shall be conducted by means of threats of injury or loss by interference with their property or traffic, or with their lawful employ-ment of other persons, or designed to abridge any of these rights, are illegal combinations or associations; and all acts done in furtherance of such intencity had only three assignments-none of any consequence. In Canada and the casualties are very light.

by damage, are actionable.

There is no doubt concerning plaintiff's legal rights, as should debar it from the usual remedy.

to do justice to the President for the courage and fidelity to duty he showed in interposing the veto against such a project. Now that the veto has been sustained by the House, and in a far more emphatic way by the country at large, we are apt to underestimate the courage it required. If the votes of the two houses are to be taken as evidence of public sentiment, as they may ordinarily be, the bill was popular with both parties. The President would have risked nothing politically by signing a measure that came to him with such credentials. He did risk much by refusing to sign it. If he had not had more courage than the majori-ties of both houses the bill would now be a law. Mr. Cleveland, however, feet on his own popularity of any course of action that seems to him right, and he has attained a wider popularity by disregarding it than any of Congress to pass the bill over his veto proves that an exhibition of courage such as could have been expected from no other President of recent years may be more profitable "polities" than can be devised by the politicians.
